

When the Bride Plans Her Home--Living Room Is Index to Home and Should Reflect Individual Tastes in Furnishings

By VIOLA FLEISCHMAN.

Interior Decorator.

CLEVELAND, May 5.—Up to the bride's second-hand shop—if you would furnish your home attractively, furthermore, furnishing in this manner can be done at the lowest possible expenditure. Many a worthy piece of furniture scratched with misuse and covered with coats of ugly colored paint has been relegated to the basement locker or the attic and sometimes to the second-hand dealer. Such pieces can be painted or enameled and with a little ingenuity made decidedly beautiful.

It will be a good idea to show a series of articles what pieces of this type may be used to furnish a June bride's apartment. With accessories, too, made from comparatively inexpensive materials the charm of coziness and restfulness may be obtained.

Living Room.

The first room to consider in the bride's apartment is the living room. This is the index to the home and should reflect the tastes and interests of the owners more than any other room. Comfort, convenience and hospitality should be aimed for in the selection and arrangement of the articles introduced in the furnishing.

A dayenport or day-lounge, is an inviting place and can be improvised from a sanitary couch by means of a cover fitted to it after the necessary padding has been achieved with narrow mattresses or feather cushions and bolsters. The cover should be made of cretonne or a broad old blue stripe and a buff or ecru ground. Round and rectangular cushions in blue, ecru or dull orange linen or cotton and in figured sateen may be used to add color interest as well as comfort. Console tables made by sawing in two a medium-sized round table may be used to flank the ends of the dayenport and to hold lamps, books, vases of flowers, etc. They may be refinished by removing old varnish or paint and staining mahogany color. They may be painted black and decorated with hand-painted flower motifs.

Novel Writing Desk.

A writing desk such as shown can be secured by making over an old wash stand. The cupboard in the lower section may be fitted with drawers in the form of tall legs. The top could be fitted with plate glass, with a cretonne underlay in blue, buff and green. The desk itself could be enameled deep cream color with line decorations in blue. A small light weight chair with rush-bottom, cane or wood seat could be secured at low cost and finished the same as the desk.

Bookcases. can be constructed with a few boards and brackets made from large wood packing boxes after they are lightly planed. The top and shelves may be finished in mahogany effect, the sides enameled cream color, which should also be the color of the bookshelves, window and door frames. Hangings which can readily be drawn to exclude dust should be used, matching in color and fabric the overhangings at the windows, preferably old blue or soft brown linen, crash or sateen.

Effective Chairs.

The wooden spindle chair can be made from an old rocker and when finished mahogany or enameled black or dull blue with painted floral decorations is decidedly effective and handsome. Another chair of the large ungainly "chair suit" chairs formerly fashionable, by means of padding with cushions and covering with cretonne as suggested for the dayenport.

The curtain next the glass may be cream color net, white dotted swiss or china silk. Artificial lighting is most effective when provided entirely by lamps. A soft glow being possible with them. One can secure inexpensive pottery in department store basements or in the little Chinese shops, which can be placed in other lamps, or in other shades of brown with a domestic rug known as a chenille rug which may be secured in this color at a comparatively small cost.

near its capacity. It would therefore be able to keep a mine and works in better conditions, to mine the coal cheaper, and to retain its corps of miners and other employees, and to attract miners and other employees away from the service of other operators, all of which advantages would be impossible to the neighboring and competing mine served by the same carrier that is furnished with a very much smaller number of proportion of cars.

In the year 1913, the Consolidation Coal company and eighteen other operators in this district filed suit against the Baltimore and Ohio railroad in which they asked the latter-state Commerce Commission to require that railroad fuel cars be counted and charged against the distributive share of the loading mine in the same manner as commercial cars. The Commission had an attorney-examiner hear the case and submit a proposed decision to it, yet if the mine to act upon the proposed decision, the findings and conclusions of the attorney-examiner are entitled to considerable weight, especially as they were predicted in part upon the decisions in the same cases that form the basis of the Commission's order of April 16th. Among other things, the attorney-examiner said in his decision:

"While a particular mine is entitled to receive its own cars, foreign fuel cars, or company fuel cars specially assigned to it, yet if the mine to which such cars are exclusively assigned is not required to account on subsequent days for the excess which it may receive on any particular day over its proportion of the entire supply of cars then available for distribution, other shippers of coal are unduly prejudiced.

"Where individual cars, foreign fuel cars, or company fuel cars are assigned to a particular mine in excess of its percentage of the total available supply of cars, such excess, together with the corresponding shortage in the number of cars received by other mines, should be carried forward and adjusted in the distribution of system cars on future days in the same way in which any excess of system cars received by a particular mine and the corresponding shortage of other mines is now carried forward and adjusted on future days.

"For every average there must be a corresponding shortage, and therefore, when the number of specially assigned cars received and loaded by a particular mine on any day exceeds that mine's share of the total available equipment, and it is excluded from the distribution of system cars on that day, each of the other mines, although it receives its full share of the system cars then available for distribution, should be shown in the car distribution accounts as short to the extent that it failed to receive the full number of cars it would have received if all the cars distributed on that day had been system cars."

Daily Loading.

Fairmont region on Tuesday loaded 1,041 cars of coal and coke—1,019 cars of coal and 22 cars of coke.

ROBS CALOMEL OF NAUSEA AND DANGER

Medicinal Virtues Retained and Improved—Dangerous and Sickening Qualities Removed. New Tablet Called "Calotabs."

The latest triumph of modern pharmacy is a "de-nauseated" calomel tablet known to the drug trade as "Calotabs." Calomel, the most generally useful of all medicines thus enters upon a wider field of popularity, purified and refined from those objectionable qualities which have heretofore limited its use.

In biliousness, constipation, headaches and indigestion, and in a great variety of liver, stomach and kidney troubles calomel was the most successful remedy but its use was often neglected on account of its sickening qualities. Now it is the easiest and most pleasant of medicines to take. One tablet on the tongue at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all, no taste, no gripping, no nausea, no salts. A good night's sleep and the next morning you are feeling fine, with a clean liver, a purified system and a big appetite. Eat what you please. No danger.

Calotabs are sold only in original, sealed packages, price thirty-five cents. Your druggist is authorized to refund the price as a guarantee that you will be thoroughly delighted with Calotabs.—Adv.
